JOHN HOBBS, G. F. HAYES,
Managing Editor, Business Manager.

FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1912.

Mr. Jordan has given out another statement on the naval question—to the same effect. In reply to Mr. McNeill's talk about what Canada might do in the way of naval defence, Mr. Jordan says this talk must not be taken as indicating anything the Government has in mind. The Premier seems to think his Government is under suspicion of having a naval policy. He may set his mind at rest.

The Opposition party in Saskatchewan are distributing buttons bearing the legend "Saskatchewan for Borden and Haufman." The idea which it is sought to convey is that a victory for Mr. Haufman in the Provincial contest would strengthen the party of high tariff and trade repression when it comes to a Federal election. The idea is right. For that reason it should help to defeat the Haufman party in the Provincial contest.

Interviewed in London, Sir Thomas Shaugnessy told the reporter that his company had made adequate provision for handling the grain crop of the West this year quickly. This would be welcome news to the Western farmer if it was not discounted by the following sentence. This is to the effect that Western grain has not in the past suffered from lack of transportation facilities. A man whose memory is as bad as that is not to be trusted in his prophecies.

Horse races and a prize fight last week, a bye-election, a circus, a Masonic convention and a Methodist conference this week, municipal elections next week; the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church the week following, and the Dominion Medical Association convention a few weeks later: Edmonton is getting to be quite a cosmopolitan place. It is well too that the events are properly separated as to time, partly because those attending could not all be accommodated at once and partly for other reasons. Suppose, for instance, the race meet and the Methodist conference had been billed for the same date—

Government papers published in the English-speaking Provinces are now saying that the Nationalist voters in Quebec have all turned traitor. If so, it is to the credit of the Nationalists that they were tired of bad company. It is also to their credit that they are returning to sanity. If they throw in with the Liberals it will be in support of Liberal principles, not Nationalist principles. Their chief broke with the Liberal party because the Liberal party stood for Canadian co-operation in Imperial defence. If they return to the Liberals they must assemble again under the same standard, for the colors of the Liberal party do not change and do not come down. If the Nationalists do not want to co-operate in Imperial defence they should say where they have been, with the Ministers who destroyed the project for Canadian participation in Imperial defence. If, as the Government papers say, the Nationalist voters are returning to Liberalism, that only shows that the Nationalist voters have more loyalty in them than the Ministers with whom they have been herding.

CANADIAN WHEAT GOES TO NEW YORK

Of the sixty-three million bushels of Western wheat which went through the canal at the Soo during the past year, nearly one-half found its way to the Atlantic via Buffalo and New York. Though the freight rate from Ft. William to New York is double that from Port William to Montreal, the difference in insurance rates late in season more than counterbalanced this difference in freight charges and sent the late traffic by the United States route. The defeat of reciprocity did not, seemingly, save the Western wheat traffic to the Canadian route. All it did was to prevent part of the wheat entering the United States at Port and Emerson, and force it to go to Ft. William over the Canadian line, where it took ship for the United States. Who lost money on the transaction is clear enough, and who made money by the restraint of trade is clear enough. But to what extent was Canadian independence of the United States shown or encouraged by the wheat entering the United States at Buffalo instead of at points farther west? Or to what extent was the loyalty of the Canadian farmer lessened by the fact that it did enter the United States at Buffalo? Or to what extent was his patriotism swelled by the fact that though his wheat goes to the ocean through the United States it cannot be sold in the United States?

WHAT ABOUT IT?

Perhaps the best part of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's excellent speech at Montreal was the portion dealing with the economic problem which his Government attempted to solve by the reciprocity arrangement, and to which problem still stands demanding solution at the hands of their successors. The spread of settlement in the West has brought in recent years a natural and necessary consequence: an ever-increasing volume of certain kinds of farm produce for which there is no market in Canada, and which there is no market outside Canada save in Great Britain. The Laurier Government conceived it to be their duty to deal with this problem, and negotiated the reciprocal trade arrangement as one means of securing a larger outside market for this surplus which Canada must export. This means was rejected by the defeat of reciprocity, but the condition which it was intended to relieve was not changed. The problem of what to do with the Western crop is still the problem of the hour. Mr. Bennett, Conservative member for Calgary, declared so in Montreal last long ago when he said that if larger markets were not secured for Western products he would not answer for the allegiance of the Western people. Mr. Foster is adding this to the problem in negotiating a preferential trade arrangement with the people of the West Indies, and in the speeches in which he tells the people how important the making of this arrangement is. Though reciprocity with the United States was rejected therefore, the difficulty which it was designed to relieve is still with us, and grows more pressing with the passing years and the increasing volume of our production. The farmer needs a larger and more accessible foreign market in 1912 more than he ever needed it before, and will need it more five years hence than he needs it now. It is for those who denied him the preferred market to find him another. What do they propose to do about it?

CAR SYSTEM ON SOUTH SIDE (EXAMINER)

Editor Bulletin.

Sir: The people living on the south side of the river, who now call themselves citizens of Edmonton, are greatly disappointed at the inadequate car system with which they are served. The population is increasing rapidly on the south side, and the present fifteen-minute car system is insufficient to carry all the people passing from one side to the other.

As a result of this many pedestrians are seen daily walking back and forth in each side of the city, who are not even able to get standing room in the overcrowded cars. The Board, therefore, and the city, a better system should be adopted. The Board would then be a great success to the other side of the river.

APPOINTMENT OF CITY ASSESSOR

Editor Bulletin.

I have been greatly surprised to observe the repeated references to my honorable appointment of Jas. Fair-convent with all the intricate details that any stranger could possibly be of city assessments. I have never, not being official, I refuse had almost daily transactions with the office and invariably found Mr.

Walker a most efficient substitute in the chief's absence. Mr. Fair-convent's experience is limited to a few months and that under the supervision of D. M. McMillan. Considering the city's rapid growth, it is not desirable that care be exercised and that the appointments should go to the most capable and experienced official.

TO START WORK AT ONCE ON A FOURTH
TRANSCONTINENTAL

Gigantic Project Which English
Promoter Says Has Been Undertaken.

COMPANY BEHIND IT

HAS $45,000,000 CAPITAL

To Build From McMurray Both East and West to Coasts.

Backed by capital totaling over $45,000,000, and with almost unlimited resources on which to draw, Mr. J. M. King, an English promoter and capitalist, who has been interested in railroads for the past ten or twelve years, and who has built roads through East Africa, India and Sumatra, is in the city to investigate conditions which it will be necessary to meet in the construction of a fourth transcontinental railroad. The London and Dominion Trust company, of which Mr. King is president, has already investigated the requirements of the country through which the proposed line will run and has had engineers estimate the difficulties which will be experienced.

The announcement of the construction of the new road was made by Mr. King yesterday. Work will be started on it this summer and rushed forward with all possible speed. Mr. King, accompanied by Mr. Williams, the engineer who will be in charge of the construction of the line, will leave for the north in a few days to learn at first hand the nature of the country in the Peace River district. Both East and West From McMurray. Unlike the transcontinentals which have already been built, the new road, according to Mr. King, will be started in the middle of the continent and built outward and westward at the same time. Port McMurray will be the starting point of the main line although the first work will be done on a branch line from Edmonton to Port McMurray, the main purpose of which will be to bring the building materials to the scene of operations. Westward the line will be built as far as Peace River Crossing within the next two years. Eastward the line will run to a point on Hudson's Bay and later from there to the Atlantic coast. Provision for numerous extensions are made in the Dominion charter which the company holds.

1,500 Mile Stretch Planned. The work, which is planned so far is only the 1,500 miles stretch from Peace River Crossing to Hudson's Bay, and the stretch line from Edmonton to Port McMurray. It totals 1,500 miles of road at an average cost of $22,000 per mile, making a total estimated cost of $33,000,000. The terms on Hudson's Bay has not been decided, but the company is prepared to spend four million pounds sterling in making it, and the Pacific harbor, two of the best harbors in the world. When the road from Peace River to Hudson's Bay is completed it is the intention of the company to organize a fleet of steamers of their own plying between the termini of their road and European ports.

To Complete in Four Years. Surveys of the country through which the road will run, have already been made and it is estimated by the promoter that at the outside the work will be finished within four years. Mr. King is of the opinion that the difficulties of railroad construction in the north country have been greatly exaggerated. The London and Dominion Trust company, he says, has sufficient resources to make any route from the government unobtainable and they do not intend to ask any. The road and steamship line will be built entirely on their own funds.

Colonization Scheme. The company realizes that the success of the road which they intend to build depends entirely on the development of the country through which they propose to run and that the faster that country is developed the sooner their road will pay dividends. Realizing this they have already made arrangements to carry out a large colonization scheme which they hope will result in the opening up of hundreds of thousands of acres of new lands. Settlers will be brought to this country, particularly to Alberta, within the next year and placed on farms, using every device necessary to make good on the land.

The work of construction will be carried out by Mr. J. Williams, an engineer of international reputation, who has been asked for the construction of nearly all the roads in the eastern continent which have been built by Mr. King. Mr. Williams is in the city with Mr. King.

Leaving for North. They will leave for the north country within the next few days to take a preliminary survey. Mr. Williams will not state what the exact purpose of the present trip was, but indicated that it was in connection with the colonization scheme. Work will be sent out along the proposed line of the road to start the final survey. A preliminary survey has already been made. Construction work will be started at once on the basis of the final survey.

The line from Edmonton to Port McMurray will follow closely the survey for the Alberta and Great Waterways line. That the new road from McMurray to Peace River Crossing will be the most difficult portion of the work. Mr. King anticipates, however, the country from Port McMurray to Hudson's Bay is more hilly and rougher, the making of a road-bed will be easier there than in the western portion of the line.

Built Line Through Frances. "I have built a line through the Frances," said Mr. King, "and this country is much better suited to railroad construction than that. We intend to introduce some of the methods we used in the eastern continent and they will certainly see a departure from anything ever seen in railroad construction on this continent."

When at the end of three or four years the line already planned, is completed the company will be prepared to extend westward to the Pacific coast and southward across Jones Bay and across the province of Quebec to the Atlantic coast. A port will be established on the Pacific coast and one on the Atlantic seaboard, as well as on Hudson's Bay. These extensions are all provided for in the Dominion charter under which the company is working.

The scheme, colonial in its outline, as it is, bears the imprint of a Cecil Rhodes, and according to Mr. King, has men of the calibre of Cecil Rhodes behind it. The company has sufficient backing behind it to ensure success even though a few years after completion should be required to make it pay. It anticipates, however, that it will pay right from the start.

Johnny Carson announced at the close of the bout that the winner of the bout.

Miners Sign Agreement. Kansas City, Mo., May 29.—Coal operators and miners of the southwestern district who have been holding conferences in Kansas City for the last sixty days reached an agreement yesterday and a contract covering a period of two years was signed. While many of the changes agreed upon were not too radical, the new contract carries with it a slight increase in wages. Miners and operators throughout Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas are affected.

NO SEPARATE COMPANY TO WORK C.P.R. LINES

Mr. Thomas Shaugnessy, Director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been appointed Director of the new Consolidated Division of the C.P.R. Lines.

London, May 26.—Mr. Thomas Shaugnessy, asked whether there was any truth in the report that the Canadian Pacific railway was contemplating a separation of certain classes of its assets, denied that there was any intention of forming a separate company to control C. P. R. line holdings.

Mr. Shaugnessy told the interviewer that there are more advanced ideas in Canada than here regarding the relationship of capital and labor. Taking him up, the Globe today editorially reminds him that there has been a great deal of labor trouble in the C. P. R. at various times. It deprecates what it describes as the C. P. R. policy of inviting American Western farmers into the Dominion. The Westminster Gazette, alluding to the anxiety of American authorities over this question, says there is evidently made quicker in Canada than in the States, where the dollars are there still American are gathered together.

DAWSON IN A NATIONAL WON

Big Five Hundred Mile Auto Race Was Finished in Record Time.

NO ACCIDENT MARRIED SUCCESS OF CONTEST

De Palma Had Engine Trouble and Did Not Finish Race.

Indianapolis, May 29.—After leading all the way from the start to the 19th lap, Ralph De Palma's Mercedes developed engine trouble and Joe Dawson's National, came up from sixth place to win the 500-mile race in the record time of 8:11.1. The contest was the most exciting of the season, and the crowd of 100,000 spectators who gathered to witness the race, were kept in the highest of excitement.

The day was ideal for the motor race, and a serious accident was averted. De Palma, who was leading, was forced to leave the hospital with severe scratches after a slight collision with the car of another driver, who had fallen on the track was the first to quit, dropping out on the seventh lap.

David Bruce Brown was the next to leave the track. When he found that his National was out of gear, he broke down and was on the shoulder of his mechanic. Others dropped out until there were only ten cars in the race.

Dawson drove a steady race, holding second place most of the time after the fifth lap. Just before he finished the race, he was overtaken by the car of another driver, who was driving a National. The thousands of spectators cheered the victory and Dawson, after the race, said he considered it good luck.

Johnnie Jenkins finished his last lap, driving on the rim of the right hand wheel of his white car. He was a leader, was jumping and kicking to see the time in his car. He was overtaken by the car of another driver, who was driving a National. The thousands of spectators cheered the victory and Dawson, after the race, said he considered it good luck.

"I am not tired," he said. "Just now I feel like I could drive for 24 hours." He was driving on the rim of the right hand wheel of his white car. He was a leader, was jumping and kicking to see the time in his car. He was overtaken by the car of another driver, who was driving a National. The thousands of spectators cheered the victory and Dawson, after the race, said he considered it good luck.
